MISS LAYTON SENT TO PRISON.

STORY TOLD OF "CINCH" CLUB OF PLAYING CARD DIRECTORS.

Miss Layton Faints When Sentenced and Dr. Johnston, Who Lived With Her, Goes Out in a Hurry-Charged That Official Told Her How to Fix Accounts.

Marie Layton, who lived for two years with Dr. Albert M. Johnston, a Fifth avenue dentist, as his wife, was sentenced to State prison yesterday by Judge Warren W. Foster in the General Sessions for from one to five years. When sentenced she dropped to the floor in a faint.

She pleaded guilty to two indictments for grand larceny and has confessed to extensive stealings from the United States Playing Card Company, which employed her as a bookkeeper up till last June. She is said to have got away with from $35,000 to $50,000.

Her counsel said yesterday that one of the officers of the company was a direct beneficiary of her thefts

"Some of the directors of the company," said Lawyer Kersburg, "formed a club called the 'Cinch Club,' the purpose of which was to enable them to formulate schemes whereby they could increase their incomes at the expense of other directors. It was a secret club and this girl was appointed its secretary.

"This defendant, who has been well educated in business life, has had but one ambition and that was to educate a younger sister. She began her business career when she was 13 and at 21 went into the employ of the United States Playing Card Company, where, under the totelage of an auditor of the company, she was taught how to manipulate accounts. He was in financial trouble most of the time and took loans from her, although he knew that she loans from her, although he knew that she got but $25 a week

"She could not have committed these larcenies without his connivance. Is it any wonder, under the circumstances, that she fell? When the larcenies were discovered last April she freely confessed her part in them and gave her note for $10,000, which she intended to pay, and would have paid eventually. She was the victim, not the originator, of these larcenies."

larcenies."
Assistant District Attorney Sandford said that he had investigated Miss Layton's story, but was unable to correborate it, the inference being that it was not true.
"The story would have all come out in police court, but you went ahead and by obtaining an indictment prevented further proceedings," interrupted Miss Layton's counsel.

A lawyer who appeared in the interest of the United States Playing Card Company, said that the story of the "Cinch Club" was false, and that at the suggestion of the District Attorney experts had examined the company's books and placed the blame on Miss Layton.

Mr. Sandford said that the larcenies did not begin until the defendant went to live with Dr. Johnston. "And according to our judgment," said Mr. Sandford. "much of it was placed to his account."

Dr. Johnston, who was in court while sentence was being pronounced, left hurriedly when the woman fainted.

CAR OVER BRIDGE'S SIDE.

Onlya Stout Coupling Prevented a Disaster at Harlem River.

A stout car coupling saved a hundred passengers on the Third avenue elevated Railway yesterday morning from being plunged over the side of the Harlem River bridge to the freight yards of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad

While a southbound train of six cars, each filled with Bronx workers bound for Marhattan, was rounding the curve at the north end of the Second avenue bridge, about 8 o'clock, a New York, New Haven and Hartford engine, backing down on the same track to pick up a train on the Man-hattan side, crashed into its rear car. The force of the blow derailed the carand

The force of the blow derailed the carand sent it against the guard rail, where, tipped on end at an angle of almost 45 degrees, it hung over the edge of the bridge. Only the coupling with the car ahead kept it from toppling off. Every seat in the car was occupied and many were standing when the jolt came, and all were much shaken up. Andrew Fiori, the guard in the car, told everybody there was no danger and all got out quickly. They had to walk along the footpath to the 129th street station, the third rail current being state off to prevent any danger of accident.

Policeman Wimmer of the Alexander avenue station saw the car tip over and, expecting that it would fall, sent in a call for the reserves from the Alexander avenue station saw the car tip over and, for ambulances from the Harlem, Lincoln and Lebanon hospitals. Some one else sent in a fire alarm, and three engine companies and a hook and ladder company responded. No one was hurt, however, and there was nothing for the doctors of the firemen to do. The elevated road was blocked for several hours.

LEGITIMATE LOBBYING.

Asphalt Man Who Interviewed Aldermen and Others Collects $76,000.

A jury in the Supreme Court returned a verdict vesterday for $76,576 in favor of Edward R. Dunham in his suit against the Hastings Pavement Company. Dunham claimed this sum as pay for his services in pushing the interests of the Hastings company when contracts for asphalt paving were being given out some years ago.

Dunham asserted that he had a five year contract with the company by which he was to receive not less than 15 cents for every square yard of pavement which he induced the city to buy.

The Hestings conventy made block as

The Hastings company made block asphalt. Dunham interviewed city officials and Aldermen and the defence to his claim was that he had been a lobbyist and could not recover for such work. The jury de-cided that his services were legitimate and should be paid for in full.

Three Men Stabbed in a Row Over S

Daughters and S Stepdaughters. SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 2 .- As a result of a fight between the eight suitors of the eight daughters of John Cerlin, a saloonkeeper of this city, and the eight suitors of Oerlin's eight stepdaughters, three of the men, Stephen Fredericks, Otto Meyers and Joseph Haus, are in the hospital suffering from serious knife wounds and six are locked up in the city prison. The other offenders escaped. The sixteen girls furnished bonds. up in the city prison. The other offenders escaped. The sixteen girls furnished bonds. The fight started over a quarrel between the daughters and the stepdaughters as to who should have the parlor and the front porch for the evening. When the men arrived the quarrel was again taken up and the eight stepdaughters and their suitors took possession of the coveted room and dared the others to enter. Knives were drawn and three were seriously stabbed.

STORY OF $800,000 BRIBE. Gen. Greene Says Poolroom Interest

Tried to Influence Piper.

Police . Commissioner Greene made known yesterday that a bribe of $300,000 had been offered to Second Deputy Commissioner Piper provided he would allow poolrooms to operate unmolested until Jan. 1, 1904.

Gen. Greene explained that he would not have announced the matter had not it been spoken of by the Rev. Robert L. Paddock spoken of by the Rev. Robert L. Paddock in his sermon on Sunday.

This is Commissioner Greene's statement: Some time last June, John Doe, whose identity I do not know, representing the agents of the poolroom syndicate, called at the office of Richard Roe, whose identity I do not know, saying that he wished to talk to him on important business. The man whom I call Roe is a connection, by marriage, of Capt. Piper. The two men conferred in a corner of the store and Doe's proposition was that if Roe would get Capt. Piper to consent to the quiet running of poolrooms until Jan. 1, he would pay the Captain $200,000, and would pay the S75,000. Noe was indignant and refused to enter any such scheme, ordering the gambling representative from his office. He has never seen him since. Ten days later Roe told Capt. Piper about the offer and Capt. Piper in turn reported it to me. I told him to go to the District Attorney and see if he would not have the man indicted.

He did so, but District Attorney Jerome told him that he could not move, as there were no witnesses: that it would simply be one man's statement against another man's, and that no indictment could be based on unsubstantiated evidence. This, as I say, occurred last June.

GUESSING NOT A LOTTERY, When Knowledge and Judgment, Not Chance, Are the Elements.

Ismar S. Ellison, who publishes a tobacco ournal, was ordered discharged from custody yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Davis, before whom he was brought on a writ of habeas corpus. Ellison was arrested on a charge of having violated Section 327 of the Penal Code, which forbids lotteries. He had advertised a scheme for the distribution of prizes among those for the distribution of prizes among those who could come nearest to guessing how many cigars the United States would collect duty on at the rate of $3 a thousand. The prizes aggregated $142,500, and the guessers who were to share in the distribution numbered 35,213. To qualify for a guess one had to collect 100 cigar bands. It was alleged that this guessing competition constituted a lottery, but Justice Davis says that he considers that under the plan adventised the prizes would go to plan advertised the prizes would go to those who showed the best knowledge and judgment, and that therefore it was not a lottery within the meaning of the act.
